First Nations Finance Authority (Canada)

Update following rating affirmation

Summary

The credit profile of the First Nations Finance Authority (FNFA, Aa3 stable) reflects its consistently strong credit fundamentals, sound governance, and rigorous onboarding and monitoring processes. This ensures high loan portfolio quality, even as loan volumes and borrowing membership continue to grow rapidly. Significant structural protections – including an irrevocable intercept mechanism which gives FNFA priority over cash flows, substantial reserve funds, and legal security interests – support strong coverage ratios and operating profitability. FNFA's credit profile also reflects both the direct and implicit support of the Government of Canada (Aaa stable). The credit profile is constrained by the challenges of monitoring a dynamic and growing pool of borrowing members, and rising single-name concentration in the loan portfolio.

Credit strengths

- » Stringent review of pool participants' credit quality enhances loan portfolio quality
- » Robust structural credit protection mechanisms support high cash flow coverage
- » Additional backstops provide bondholder protection
- » Continued borrowing member and debenture growth due to increased demand for loans

Credit challenges

- » Fiscal challenges by some borrowers necessitates heightened monitoring and due diligence
- » Single name borrower concentration has increased, mitigated by overall loan diversity

Rating outlook

The stable outlook reflects our expectation that the strong institutional framework and robust member onboarding process will support continued high loan portfolio quality despite rapid loan growth. At the same time, significant credit protection mechanisms ensure sufficient cash flows to provide high coverage of debt service throughout the life of the loans.

Factors that could lead to an upgrade

The rating could be upgraded if we see evidence of a material improvement in the credit quality of pool participants, further diversification of the borrower member pool, and rising liquidity.

Factors that could lead to a downgrade

A deterioration in the credit quality, size, or diversity of the pool participants, or reduced ability to monitor borrowers with weaker credit quality, would put downward pressure on the rating. Lower support from the federal government or adverse changes to FNFA's Act could also result in downward rating pressure.

Detailed rating considerations

The credit profile of FNFA, as expressed in its Aa3 stable rating, combines a Baseline Credit Assessment (BCA) of a1, and our assumption of a strong likelihood of extraordinary support from the Government of Canada in the event that FNFA faced acute liquidity stress.

Baseline credit assessment

Stringent review of pool participants' credit quality enhances loan portfolio quality

FNFA acts as a central borrowing agency for financing capital requirements and economic and social infrastructure development projects of member First Nations. In addition to providing long-term capital financing for member First Nations, FNFA includes the provision of interim financing and short-term investment opportunities for First Nations.

FNFA is one of three First Nation-led national institutions legislated under the First Nations Fiscal Management Act by the Government of Canada. It is not an agent of the crown and its obligations are not guaranteed by the federal government, although the federal government continues to provide direct support to FNFA. The First Nations Fiscal Management Act (FNFMA) came into force on 1 April 2006 and established three institutions (1) First Nations Finance Authority (FNFA), (2) First Nations Tax Commission (FNTC) and (3) the First Nations Financial Management Board (FMB), which is responsible for financial management system certification for First Nations.

FNFA's rating is supported by the pool program management attributes inherent in FNFA's structure and the stringent qualification process for becoming a borrowing member. This includes a comprehensive onboarding process and FNFA's regular monitoring of the pool participants' credit quality to ensure borrowers' timely cash flow payment of debt service obligations. FNFA also has intervention powers granted to the authority under its Act.

A First Nation must first request to the Minister of Crown-Indigenous Relations and Northern Affairs Canada to be scheduled to the FNFA, pass a band council resolution, and satisfy certification requirements with the FMB. As part of this certification process, FMB analyzes the financial performance of the First Nation. FMB also aids the First Nation in developing a Financial Administration Law, which outlines the decision making, management, monitoring and reporting with respect to financial administration of the First Nation. Moreover, a First Nation must also gain unanimous approval of the FNFA board before becoming a member.

The FMB conducts regular monitoring and oversight of borrowing members and has the power to intervene and arrange a co-management arrangement or third-party management of a First Nation's revenues if necessary. The FNFA also has the power to request intervention by the FMB if the First Nation fails to make a payment or fulfill an obligation under its Borrowing Agreement. The FMB has the power to take control over the treasury functions of a borrowing member that has received a loan and can access all revenue streams of that borrowing member.

Robust structural credit protection mechanisms support high cash flow coverage

FNFA's structure includes robust mechanisms that ensure cash flow provides for high coverage of debt service through the life of the loans. Once a borrowing agreement is signed with a borrowing member, an irrevocable intercept mechanism, a Secured Revenues Trust Account (SRTA), is put in place to capture the revenue stream used to support the First Nation's loan. Any non-performing revenue stream must be replaced with a performing revenue stream. The trust account diverts the gross revenues of those revenues that will be used against borrowing following minimum coverage ratios; anything in excess of that needed for the borrowing is then diverted back to the First Nation.

FNFA's objective is to have intercepted revenues that at any given time provide at least 2x debt service coverage and 3x interest coverage. As of August 2025, intercepted revenues provided at least 3x interest coverage and 1.9x–2.1x debt service coverage. We consider these coverage levels to be strong, which also reflect improvements in FNFA's due diligence and loan monitoring and stability of the borrower revenue base.

These coverage ratios depend on the type of pledged revenues in support of the loan, i.e. higher debt coverage ratios are required for higher risk revenues such as land benefit agreements versus government transfers. Invoicing is also based on revenue frequency, so if revenue streams are received monthly, monies toward repayment will be collected monthly and prior to debt service payments. This allows extra time to resolve any issues prior to any debt service payments.

Additional backstops provide bondholder protection

FNFA maintains important reserve funds which provide credit protection to bond investors, with total reserves of nearly CAD490 million at March 2025, about 16.5% of outstanding loans. Five percent of all loan requests are held in the Debt Reserve Fund (DRF) and the Canadian government has provided funding to a Credit Enhancement Fund (CEF) which was set up to enhance FNFA's creditworthiness and act as a backstop to the DRF. Should there be a non-payment on an obligation, FNFA would first work to recover the payment but can also tap into the DRF. In case of a shortfall in the DRF, the CEF could be used to temporarily offset shortfalls, while a joint and several obligation of borrowing members requires them to replenish the DRF without limit.

The DRF continues to grow in proportion with the loan portfolio growth, reaching CAD178 million at March 2025, with continued increases projected as the aggregate loan amount increases. The DRF can be used for debt service in the event of non-payment by a borrowing member. Assets in the DRF are invested mostly in liquid securities.

The CEF totaled CAD53 million at March 2025, following multiple contributions by the Government of Canada since its inception, which provides evidence of the federal government's strong support of FNFA. The explicit federal support benefits FNFA's credit profile and we anticipate that the federal government would provide additional funding to the CEF as the loan portfolio grows.

Bondholder protection is further supported by a Contingency Fund, which totaled CAD38 million at March 2025. The Contingency Fund provides 0% interest loans to FNFA borrowing members to ensure loan service payments are made in full in the event that a senior government regulatory action impacts a First Nations revenue streams, such as policy responses to pandemics or economic shocks. Reserve funds provide strong protection for bondholders, with the DRF and CEF acting as primary and secondary backstops.

FNFA also maintains a CAD900 million commercial paper (CP) program for financing loans to borrowing members. Rollover risk is mitigated by available reserves and a positive carry from higher loan rates. The CP program is backstopped by a CAD900 million syndicated revolving credit facility syndicated across several Canadian chartered banks. Borrowing under the CP program and the credit facility is jointly limited to CAD900 million, limiting aggregate exposure.

Continued borrowing member and debenture growth due to increased demand for loans

We anticipate continued strong First Nations interest across Canada to benefit from FNFA's favourable lending rates. Membership has grown significantly, with the number of borrowing first nations rising to 101 in August 2025 from only 13 borrowers in 2014. FNFA now has scheduled or approved members across all ten Canadian provinces and the Northwest Territories, with 185 members and 375 total scheduled members. Loans to members reached CAD3.0 billion at March 2025, up from CAD0.8 billion in August 2020. We expect continued strong growth of approximately CAD1 billion annually.

A 2023 amendment to the FNFMA expanded the definition of "borrowing member", enabling FNFA to extend loans to non-profit organizations that provide indigenous public services including healthcare and utilities, and Treaty Bands. The expanded definition enhances the potential borrower base. FNFA is also considering lending to special purpose vehicles (SPVs) with potential backstop by provincial loan guarantees and the federal government's recently increased CAD10 billion loan guarantee limit.

FNFA typically finances its loans through annual debt issuances, with the total notional debt amount growing in line with the growth in loans. Outstanding debentures stood at approximately CAD2.8 billion at March 2025. In June 2024, FNFA refinanced approximately CAD180 million, its first debt refinance since it was created.

Fiscal challenges by some borrowers necessitates heightened monitoring and due diligence

Although we continue to view the overall borrowing pool as strong, there is notable variability in the credit quality between borrowers, which impacts the credit quality and default tolerance score in FNFA's scorecard. Credit challenges include both balance sheet weakness (significant leverage resulting in very high debt burdens and/or weak liquidity) and operating weakness (revenue shortfalls and high expenses).

FNFA monitors the financial condition of borrowers closely, nevertheless rapid growth in the borrowing pool due to rising demand for loans have resulted in an increased number of borrowers that require heightened due diligence and monitoring including the need to prudently analyze the fiscal health of current and pending members. FNFA's expenses have also grown as it needs to ensure sufficient staff levels for monitoring.

The due diligence process is also challenged by late financial reporting by some borrowing members, often by multiple years, which makes evaluating their fiscal and credit health more difficult. Structural issues in recent years, including government policy compliance, legal disputes and staffing shortages by some First Nations have also contributed filing delays. However, it is FNFA's practice to deny new loans to these borrowing members until the requested financial statements are produced.

Single name borrower concentration has increased, mitigated by overall loan diversity

Loan growth reflects both an increase in borrowing members and larger individual loan sizes, increasing concentration risk. These loans support various infrastructure and equity participation projects. For example, FNFA has provided a combined CAD270 in loans to Enoch Cree Nation for capital spending related to band business enterprises, including a resort and casino. A CAD348 million loan to the Haisla Nation in 2025, with significant additional disbursements projected for the next few years, supports its 50.1% equity stake in the Cedar LNG project, a liquefied natural gas facility and export terminal in British Columbia. As a result, loan concentration has risen, with the top five borrowers now accounting for 43% of the portfolio, up from 28% in 2019, reflecting increased single-name risk.

The pace of recent and projected loan growth exceeds historical trends, which requires enhanced monitoring of borrower credit quality. These risks are mitigated by individual borrower loan limits and continued strong oversight. FNFA has strengthened its monitoring capabilities by expanding its skilled staff to improve outreach, processing efficiency, and business analysis. The successful transition to a new COO and management team has preserved leadership continuity and operational stability.

Extraordinary support considerations

Moody's assigns a strong likelihood of extraordinary support from the Government of Canada to prevent a default by the FNFA and the creation and support of FNFA and supporting institutions by Canada through legislation as well as the important government-defined mandate of the FNFA in providing financing for First Nations in Canada. Moody's also assigns a very high default dependence level between FNFA and the Government of Canada, reflecting the two entities' shared exposure to common economic and financial risks.

ESG considerations

How environmental, social and governance risks inform our credit analysis of FNFA

Moody's takes into account of the impact of environmental (E), social (S) and governance (G) factors when assessing sub-sovereign issuers' economic and financial strength. In the case of FNFA, the materiality of ESG to the credit profile is as follows:

FNFA has limited exposure to environmental risks given its function as a financial authority. It is not exposed to natural capital, water management or other environmental risks. Although some of the borrowing First Nations bands may be exposed to environmental risks including wildfires or flood risk, disaster relief from the provincial and federal governments mitigate this risk.

FNFA also has limited exposure to social risks - including such as demographics, health and safety related risks - given its function as a financial authority. While it is exposed to changes in its borrowing members' financial health and their ability to pay their loan obligations to FNFA, significant credit protection mechanisms mitigate this risk.

We characterize FNFA's governance as strong, supported by a well-established institutional framework and stringent onboarding procedures. However, the evolving borrower landscape, delayed financial reporting by some borrowing members, and the high volume of applications require FNFA to maintain more active credit monitoring than other rated pools.

Further details are provided in the "Detailed credit considerations" section above. Our approach to ESG is explained in our cross-sector methodology 'General Principles for Assessing Environmental, Social and Governance Risks'.
